Dear Lou:

I was surprised to find that I no longer (if ever I did) have any of your reprints on Salmonella. I'm in the middle of writing an arduous review of recombination right now, and would be very grateful to you if you can repair the defect. If you have exhausted your supply on any of your papers, would you give me the titles, so I can remember to look them up?

Of course, I am sending you my stuff on a regular (about biennial!) basis; here's some now.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,

Professor of Genetics

P.S. Would you pass a similar message on to Dr. Landy for me please? I'm especially interested in the chemical and immunochemical studies on the enteric antigens. Frits and Ida Ørskov have just lately come here from Copenhagen, and we've taken up a final effort on coli immunogenetics.
